

Cyclone Yasi

John Arrowsmith— Homeowner

Mission Beach QLD

"I have lived in the house for two years, the home itself took three years to build and although this cyclone has destroyed some parts of the house, it was a good test for the AltairTM Louvres."

"I was not home at the time of cyclone but we did have a refugee downstairs in the bedroom. I believe the doors and windows blew out after the eye went past. The noise would have been horrific and it would have been a very terrifying experience to say the least. However, the house is still standing, along with the louvres and sliding windows, while the sliding doors completely blew out and we now face a fatal repair bill. I installed 102mm Breezway AltairTM Louvre galleries because they look great and catch the breeze nicely. They should have leaked by rights but in this case worked really well, except for the one frame that blew out from the wall (but this was because the frame was not screwed in). On a positive note, I've never needed to use the air conditioning in the two years that I've lived here."
